Crossover Presale Now Live: Community-Powered Solana Validator Initiative Launches at Crossovr.io

Crossover, the groundbreaking community-driven initiative building a global network of Xandem-enabled Solana validators, today announced that its highly anticipated token presale is officially live at Crossovr.io/presale.

The presale offers early supporters the opportunity to purchase $CROSSOVER tokens at the exclusive price of $0.001. This special pricing will only be available during the presale period, which runs until November 1, 2025, when Crossover aims to list on Crypto exchanges.

Crossover is designed to reshape crypto by moving beyond speculation and meme-driven hype. Instead, it focuses on real blockchain infrastructure—deploying validators that power Solana’s rapidly expanding ecosystem of dApps, games, and DeFi projects. Through its community-powered model, validator rewards are distributed back to token holders and reinvested into the ecosystem, creating a sustainable cycle of growth.

Early investors also benefit from powerful staking opportunities:

- 10% rewards on tokens staked for 6 months.
- 15% rewards on tokens staked for 12 months.
- An additional 5% boost for holders of the exclusive Founder’s NFT, awarded only to early community members who joined the waitlist and are now participating in the presale.

“Crossover isn’t about hype—it’s about building real blockchain infrastructure with real returns,” said a spokesperson for the project. “This presale is the start of a new chapter where the community drives validator growth, profits, and governance.”

The initiative has already gained strong momentum across social media thanks to the popularity of its Founder's NFT, which provides long-term benefits to committed supporters.

Crossover invites all crypto enthusiasts, Solana supporters, and community builders to participate in the presale and help shape the future of blockchain infrastructure.
