Crossover Token Presale Launches September 1: Community-Powered Validator Initiative Gains Momentum

Crossover Token (Crossovr), the community-driven project designed to fund and launch Solana validators, is officially opening its presale on September 1, 2025 on its website. Tokens will be offered at just $0.001 each, providing early investors with a unique opportunity to join a movement that blends real blockchain infrastructure with long-term community rewards.

"We're building something different," said a spokesperson for the project. "This isn't about hype or pump-and-dumps. It's about creating sustainable growth through community-powered validators — the backbone of Solana's ecosystem. This is about tokenized real world assets. By owning Crossover, you will own a piece of the Blockchain itself."

"With every step it takes, this initiative has been light years ahead of competing offerings. We are building real value for our token holders. Join us."

The project has already built remarkable momentum across social media, fueled by the wildly popular Founder's NFT offering. The limited-edition NFT has generated buzz by offering waitlist signup holders a 5x staking boost on their Founder's NFT rewards during the presale period — After the presale starts, these NFTs will provide 1% extra rewards FOR life. When the presale ends, these Founder NFT's will NEVER be minted again.

Early investors who participate in the presale will also benefit from exclusive staking rewards:

- 10% interest on staked tokens over 6 months
- 15% interest on staked tokens over 12 months
- +5% boost for holders of the Founder's NFT

Crossover's mission is simple: to transform the crypto space by redirecting speculation into real infrastructure and utility. By funding Solana validators together as a community, profits from validation are reinvested to buy back $CROSSOVER tokens on the open market, creating demand while rewarding holders.

With Solana's momentum at an all-time high and validator demand expected to grow exponentially, Crossover is positioning itself as a pioneering bridge between community investment and blockchain infrastructure.

About Crossover

Crossover is a community-powered initiative to fund and manage Solana validators, returning validator rewards to token holders through staking, buybacks, and governance. The project's mission is to give the community a direct role in blockchain growth while creating sustainable rewards.
