

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Crossover Launches $1,100 X Thread Contest to Empower the Community and Strengthen Awareness in the Initiative

October 6, 2025 – Crossovr.io – Crossover, a community-owned initiative built on the Solana blockchain, today announced the launch of its $1,100 X Thread Contest, an interactive campaign designed to encourage creativity and collaboration within the growing Crossover community.

The contest officially begins today, October 6, and invites participants to create themed threads on X (formerly Twitter) centered around the #CrossoverToken and the project's guiding slogan:

"Not a Meme. Not a Pump. Validator Powered. Community Owned."

Participants can enter the contest by joining the Crossover Discord (<https://discord.gg/crossovrtoken>) or the Telegram Channel (https://t.me/+9ZssW3\_X-8oxZDFh) and Public Group (<https://t.me/+gJnMuxkkaZc1YjVh>).

Building a Movement, Not a Meme

Crossover's mission is to redefine what it means to participate in a decentralized project. As a validator-powered ecosystem, Crossover believes in rewarding community engagement as a foundation for long-term value creation. The initiative, which is currently in presale, has already secured its first validator running on the Solana Network. Once the validator exits Testnet (early 2026) it will begin collecting revenues. Those revenues will be used to buy back Crossover Tokens, creating value for token holders. The initiative continues to collect investment to secure more validators.

"This contest is more than a marketing event—it's an open invitation for our community to help us shape the Crossover story," said a Crossover spokesperson. "Every thread, post, and idea shared builds toward something bigger: a stronger, more connected network owned by its participants."
